Dear Friend,

The Family Medicine Residency of Idaho is on the forefront of exciting changes and positive growth in the practice of Family Medicine. Our focus is on providing both high quality graduate medical education and Patient Centered Medical Homes in the Information Age. Neither exists without the other, one directly impacts the other.

As a medical education program, FMRI is on the cutting edge of piloting new approaches to high quality patient care. For example, FMRI is one of three Residencies in the country piloting a group model of maternal health care. The group model of patient care can also be effective for people with diabetes, cardiac issues, post-surgery recovery, and other conditions. It has the added benefit to physicians of being an economically feasible way to provide ongoing care to patients with chronic illnesses.

That's what I call a Win-Win as FMRI strives to become the model Patient Centered Medical Home of the 21st century.

AAFP Health Care Reform

By Samuel Summers, MD, Board Chair

Health Care Reform has been front page news for most of this year. Nearly everyone agrees that our system needs improvement and nearly everyone has different solutions, ideas, and priorities for reform. The range of views on actual health care delivery is equally wide. At one end of the spectrum there are those who believe in total self-sufficiency in seeking health care with no insurance and at the other end are those who believe in a government-run, single payer system that includes all people, regardless of their pre-existing conditions, medical history, and financial resources.

President Obama invited Dr. Epperly, president of the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP), to participate in one of the first health reform meetings of the new administration. The AAFP's Goal is: "To provide health care coverage to everyone through a primary care based system built on the patient-centered medical home." Dr. Epperly is a leading proponent of the patient-centered medical home, as evidenced nationally in his leadership of the AAFP and locally in his direction of the FMRI. [See related article on the Patient Centered Medical Home by Dr. Epperly.]

At the end of the meeting, President Obama asked Dr. Epperly to give the closing remarks. Dr. Epperly did not equivocate, "Affordable health coverage must be available to all Americans, regardless of pre-existing conditions or medical history."

Our Vision

Develop outstanding family physicians to serve the citizens, families, communities, and the State of Idaho.

Patient Centered Medical Home,

by Ted Epperly, MD, Program Director and CEO

As President of the American Academy of Family Physicians I speak with hundreds of family physicians and visit dozens of family medicine clinics around the country. It is with great pride that I return to FMRI because here in Idaho we are national leaders in the creation of Patient Centered Medical Homes that integrate patients as active participants in their own health and well-being.

Patients are cared for by a personal physician who leads the medical team that coordinates all aspects of preventive, acute and chronic needs of patients using the best available evidence and appropriate technology. These relationships offer patients comfort, convenience and optimal health throughout their lifetimes.

Our Residents benefit from learning first-hand how the model works. By using the Patient Centered Medical Home model in their practices, Residents will find greater satisfaction in their relationships with patients, patients will be more satisfied with their care, and better health outcomes will be the result.

FMRI operates four clinics, all of them are in the process of becoming model Patient Centered Medical Homes that are the cornerstones of health care reform.

Our Mission

Train superb medical school graduates to become outstanding family physicians.
Prepare broadly trained family physicians to practice in rural Idaho.
Serve the underserved.

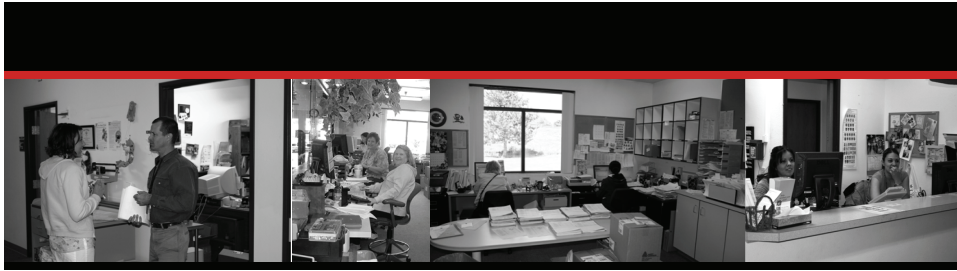

About FMRI

In 1974, FMRI received accreditation as a three-year family medicine resident program. The initial class of four entered the residency program a year later. In 1983, the Raymond Street clinic opened in the east wing of the current facility. Between 1983 and 1993, social services, obstetric, and pediatric clinics were added to the services. Since 1993, FMRI has opened an HIV Services clinic and established Rural Training Tracks in Caldwell and the Magic Valley. FMRI has a long history of recruiting excellent residents who are committed to serving rural and underserved populations. To maximize the education of the residents and care of patients, FMRI implements the latest informational technology including the Electronic Medical Record. Open access scheduling, e-mail visits, group visits, and development of integrative healing relationships are major goals of the Residency.

Alumni and Friends

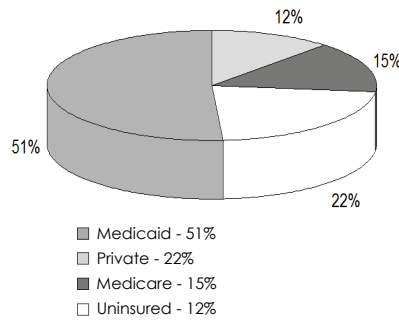

In 2009, FMRI held the first Alumni and Friends Dinner at the BSU Stueckle Sky Center. Long-time friends of FMRI, Ed Dahlberg, Karen Kellie, and Karl Kurtz, were honored for their long-term support. The event was well attended and raised $50,000 for the FMRI endowment. FMRI has created an Alumni and Friends group to support the endowment. The long-term goal is to raise $5 million to fund FMRI physician faculty outreach and education in Idaho's rural communities.
